

7-10 MARCH 2024

MEDIA GUIDE

WELCOME

The press and media team in Holmenkollen wish you a warm welcome to the best skiing festival in the world. We are ready to receive about 350 athletes from 30 nations, journalists, photographers, and commentators as well as several million TV viewers.

The events in Holmenkollen are part of the FIS World Cup in Ski Jumping, Nordic Combined and Cross-Country. An instant success in its first year, the intense and extreme RAW AIR Ski Jumping Tournament once again kicks off in Holmenkollen for its seventh edition, this time including the ladies for the fifth time. There is more information on RAW AIR on page 7. The Nordic Combined events take place on Thursday, Friday (PCR Men), Saturday and Sunday. There will be individual competitions for the Ski Jumping athletes on Saturday and Sunday (qualifications on Friday). The Cross-Country competitions start off with the women's 50km on Saturday, and the men's 50km on Sunday.

VENUE

HOLMENKOLLEN NATIONAL SKI ARENA

Holmenkollen National Ski Arena is among the most famous sports arenas in the world. It is one of Norway's most visited tourist attractions and includes the Holmenkollen Ski Museum and Jump Tower, shops, a café and a ski simulator. It is the gateway to Nordmarka, a very popular recreational area for the inhabitants of Oslo. From the ski jump tower, 60 meters above the ground and 417 meters above sea level, you can experience a breathtaking view of Oslo and the fjord below.

The arena is Norway's national venue for Nordic skiing. Its ski jumping facilities comprise the well-known K120 Holmenkollen ski jumping hill as well as the K90 hill in Midtstulia. In Midtstulia, there are another four hills for children and beginners, with K points of K10, K20, K40 and K60, respectively. All the five jumping hills in Midtstulia have a plastic inrun and can be used all year round.

For cross-country skiers, there are about 5 km of slopes with asphalt surface for roller skiing. There is also a shooting range and the arena has hosted many biathlon world cup races as well as the biathlon World Championships in 1986, 2000 and 2016.

Holmenkollen was a venue of the Winter Olympics in 1952 and hosted the FIS Nordic World Ski Championships in 1930, 1966, 1982 and 2011.

STATS AND FACTS

HOLMENKOLLEN SKI JUMPING HILL

The ski jumping hill was rebuilt for the World Championships in 2011 and the new hill was officially opened on 3 March 2010. It claims to be the world's most modern ski jumping facility. The start house soars around 64 meters above the ground and the construction comprises 1,000 tons of steel.

- Holmenkollen is the world's most modern ski jump facility.
- The first ski jumping hill in the world with permanent wind protection inherent to its design and construction.
- The only steel ski jumping hill in the world.
- Cabin lift to the very top of the ski jump for the benefit of competitors, judges, press and public alike.
- The ski jump has permanent wind protection as an integrated part of the inrun construction.
- New judges' grandstand, new royal grandstand and improved facilities for the public.
- Upgraded light and sound system.
- Spectator capacity: 30,000.

INRUN

- The total length is 96.95 meters.
- The steepest point is 36 degrees.
- The height of the takeoff is 3 meters.
- The width of the track/track bed is 2.77 meters.

DOWNHILL SLOPE

- The hill size is 134 meters – the K point is 120 meters.
- At the steepest point of the downhill slope the angle is 35.7 degrees, measured 105.6 meters from the take off.
- The angle at the hill size is 30.8 degrees.
- The width of the landing slope is 25.2 meters.
- The height difference from the edge of the takeoff to the K point is 59.1 meters.

- There are around 250 steps to the top.
- Holmenkollen ski jump is situated approximately 375 meters above sea level.

BUILDING MATERIALS

Tower/inrun construction in steel, grandstands in steel and concrete.

MIDTSTUEN

- The K point is 90 meters.
- The hill size is 106 meters.
- The hill has a plastic inrun and can be used in the summer as well.
- There is a lift from the bottom to the foot of the tower.
- Spectator capacity: 15,000.

FUN FACTS

- Holmenkollen is pronounced [ˈhɔlmənˈkɔləŋ].
- The Royal Family of Norway attends the Holmenkollen Skifestival every year and has its own grandstand in the arena called Kongetribunen (the King's grandstand).
- Holmenkollen Arena has hosted competitions since 1892 which makes it one of the world's oldest ski jumps.
- The first ski jump in Holmenkollen was made out of snow and twigs.
- The hill record in Holmenkollen is 144 meters and is currently held by Norway's Robert Johansson (jumped in 2019).
- Large parts of the plot in the mystery novel "The Snowman" written by Jo Nesbø – particularly the book's final climactic scenes – are set in Holmenkollen, both the residential area and the ski jump.

CROSS-COUNTRY

50 km Men and Women, Classic Technique (6 x 8.3 km)

Women: Saturday 9 March 10:30

Men: Sunday 10 March 10:30

The men's and women's 50 km race is in classic technique and consists of 6 laps of 8.3 km. There is a bonus sprint at Frognerseteren on all laps. A new uphill at Seterbakken was added in 2016, ensuring that the total climb is at the FIS maximum of 200 m for the 50 km, making it the toughest 50 km on the World Cup circuit.

NORDIC COMBINED

Women: Saturday 9 March 13:30 (2 x 2,5 km)

Men: Saturday 9 March 14:00 & Sunday 10 March 13:30 (4 X 2,5 km)

A BRIEF HISTORY OF SKIING EVENTS IN HOLMENKOLLEN

THE FIRST SKI JUMPING COMPETITION

The first ski jumping competition in Holmenkollen took place in 1892. The athletes had to master both cross-country skiing and ski jumping, as was usual at the time. The competition consisted of an 18 km cross-country race on Saturday 30 January and a ski-jumping competition on 31 January. The event had been moved from Husebybakken, further down the hill, due to lack of snow. However, the conditions for the cross-country race were poor in Holmenkollen as well, and the fall rate on the ski jump was as high as 73%. Nevertheless, 12,000 spectators came to witness the events. The ski jump was constructed from branches and covered in snow. The longest jump at the time was recorded at 21.5 meters, though it was not until 1933 that an exclusive ski jumping competition was introduced.

After the second world war, in 1946, ski jumping events started to attract vast crowds, exceeding 100,000 people for the first time. The biggest crowd to ever have been recorded was during the Olympic ski jumping competition in 1952, with 120,000 spectators surrounding the arena.

In 1901, a 30 km cross-country race was added to the program, only to be replaced by a 50 km event the following year. Slalom and downhill racing were introduced for the first time in 1947, with giant slalom being added in 1951. The slalom event was organized in Rødikleiva (Oslo) and the giant slalom and downhill events in Norefjell (county of Buskerud).

THE STORY OF THE 50 KM

According to the book "Femmila" by Thor Gotaas¹, the first cross-country ski race of the modern times was a 5 km mass start held in Tromsø (in Northern Norway) in 1843.

THE FIRST 50 KM RACE

In the 1880s, the really long races started to form in Trondheim and Oslo. In 1888, the first ever 50 km competition was arranged in Oslo, consisting of two 25 km laps starting at Majorstua station. In 1902 the first 50 km race took place in Nordmarka. Norwegian skiing needed a new annual attraction and 50 km was known to be a test of strength and a strenuous test of character. In addition, Norway wanted to match the endurance of the Swedes and Finns, who had races as long as 220 km.

After a promising start in 1903 where 52 athletes signed up, many from Sweden, the number of contestants was decreasing. Up until 1910 there were only a few participants signed up for the 50 km race, less than 20 each year, and in 1908 only 7 men made it to the finish line. The distance was considered long and tough. It is safe to say that it took some time for the 50 km race to make its mark.

Ahead of the World Championships in Oslo in 1966, a new course was laid out in Holmenkollen, and from then till 1982, the course was two laps around a 25 km loop. In 1982, the lap was shortened slightly because it was discovered to be farther than 25 km. The new turning point for the course was located at Glåmene where spectators could easily gather to cheer on the athletes. The new 50 km race continued in the same 25 km lap until 1998.

THE IDEA BEHIND THE COURSE

There was an essential idea behind the 50 km races in Holmenkollen in the early days: It was considered to be the ultimate test of skiing skills and endurance. And for this reason, the race should take place in the wild nature, far into the forest, away from roads and inhabited areas. Deep into Nordmarka.

Moreover, there had to be a structure to the course. A long climb had to be followed by an easier part. The course should change like a symphony on snow, and variation was the key. And for this purpose, Nordmarka was perfect with its mix of marshlands and forest and varied landscape. Nordmarka left its distinct mark on the course and the race. It was meant to be a challenge. The point of it all was to endure and overcome the many features of nature.

For some time the course changed each year and was kept secret not to give anyone the advantage of being able to train on the exact course. The course team worked in secret and it gave great status to be part of the group that set the course.

MASS START

There were skiing competitions in Finland and Sweden as well, most commonly 60 km or 90 km, but in a very different terrain. In Finland, the slopes often crossed lakes and rivers, whereas in Sweden they preferred roads. Another difference was that in Sweden and Finland the prevailing competition style was mass start. In Norway they used interval start.

As of 1982, the Holmenkollen cross-country competitions have been part of the FIS World Cup. From 2010, the 30 km and 50 km races in Holmenkollen have been mass starts.

FEMALE COMPETITORS

With the introduction of the slalom event, female competitors were able to join the Holmenkollen skiing event for the first time. The first official cross-country competition for women, a 10 km race, took place in 1954. This was the only women's event until 1966 when as part of the world championships the distances of 5 km, 10 km and 3x5 km relay were added. The 20 km race in Holmenkollen was introduced in 1981, and since 1988 (except for 1989-1994), the 30 km has been part of the program.

In 2001, the first female ski jumping event was held in the Midtstuen ski jumping hill.
