

GENERAL INFORMATION

HOST CITY: OSLO With around 700 000 citizens, Oslo is Norway's biggest city and the capital of Norway. What makes Oslo special is the blend of vibrant urban life and close proximity to nature, offering outdoor activities throughout the year. Among the city's most well-known attractions are the Vigeland Sculpture Park, the Viking Ship Museum, the Munch Museum, the Opera House in Bjørvika, and Holmenkollen National Ski Arena, which also includes the Ski Museum and the iconic ski jump tower.

For more information about Oslo and Norway go to www.visitoslo.com and www.visitnorway.com.

HOLMENKOLLEN NATIONAL SKI ARENA

Holmenkollen is situated in the hillside west of central Oslo, offering a magnificent view of the city. Since 1892, the venue has hosted the annual Holmenkollen Ski Festival, which is part of the World Cup tournaments in ski jumping, cross-country skiing and Nordic combined. Holmenkollen is also the national venue for biathlon in Norway.

The arena was renewed to host the 2011 FIS Nordic World Championships. Since then, the city of Oslo has continuously improved and upgraded the arena, making Holmenkollen one of Europe's most modern and spectacular biathlon venues.

Holmenkollen is located 56 km from Oslo Airport, and 10 km from Oslo City centre.

Shooting range:	320 m above sea level
Highest point of course:	370 m above sea level
Lowest point of course:	315 m above sea level

LOGO AND TITLES

OFFICIAL TITLE

The official title is BMW IBU World Cup Biathlon Holmenkollen 2026.

WEBSITE

The official website for the event is Verdenscup Skiskyting | Holmenkollen Skifestival

You can also find information on IBUs website: www.biathlonworld.com

OFFICIAL LOGO

FILMING AND DISTRIBUTION RULES

It is not allowed to film at the venue and use the video footage from the IBU events, unless you have an EBU/IBU permission to do so.

The activities in the finish area/mixed zone (interviews with TV stations etc.) shall not be disturbed under any circumstances.